tery of field artiflery, of which it is a part, at Washington Barracks, with practically no opportunity for gun practice. For all of that, however, the showing was first class. Good scores were made. When the last gun was fired the shell exploded directly in front of and close to the target, demolishing it entirely. The platoon is commanded by Lieut. Fox Connor and Lieut. C. C. Carter. Target practice will be resumed in the morning and tice will be resumed in the morning and the forenoon drill of the Guard will begin at 7:15 o'clock in order that the men may once more witness the gunnery, of which they know practically nothing.

Extended order, and plenty of it, was the order of things both this morning and afternoon. Platoon and later company formation prevailed. The importance of extended order drill is being particularly emphasized in the present encampment. Looking toward thorough instruction in Looking toward thorough instruction in this branch of tactics at a time when the principles expounded may be immediately placed in practice, an officers school will be established. The first lecture will be delivered temorrow by Lieutenant Overton, of the Artillery Corps, the tactical instructor. Lieutenant Overton has been engaged in compiling reports made by representatives of the United States Army in South Africa, and will take for his subject tomorrow "Extended Order Execution in the Boer War." The lectures will be held in a large tent near head-marked was ware that the command was wrong. quarters and will last an hour, beginning each day at 11 o'clock. In addition to this, there will be instruction for officers in the manual of the sword. In previous camps the officers have received award drill, but to a limited extent only. A Eusy Day for the Regulars at the District Camp—Gunrdsmen Engaged in Extended Order Drills—A Testimonial to Colonel Mesher.

CAMP ORDWAY. LEESBURG. Va., July 22—The patoon of regular artillery was at target practice near Fort Evans this morning, and the boson of the two field pieces was continued steadily for two hours. All along the fences bordering the outskirts of Camp Ordway gathered Guardsmen who had been drilled early that they might have an opportunity to warch the target practice.

Lieutenant Colonel O Brien commanded the Second Regiment at dress parade to-night in the absence of Colonel Urell. Whether or not the artillerymen encamped here should salute officers of the National Guard is a question which came up a day or so ago. The regulars had not saluted the Guard officers when the question was raised, owing to the fact that when the artillery is in the field the formality of saluting officers is done away talion colors without baring his head and ordered him to 70 so. The soldier obeyed, although he was aware that the command was wrong.

William A. Duvall, principal musician of the corps of field music, and Quartermaster Merron went to Washington today to arrange certain matters in connection with the transportation of the quartermaster supplies to Washington after the Guard breaks camp.

The vicisstindes of the Signal Corps, which has for five days vainly endeavored to get permanent telegraphic communication with Washington, are most examerating. The local telegraph office is closed at $250 octook each night. An emergency which required rapid connection with Washington would find Camp Ordway wholly unprepared.
Colonel Urell, Lieutenaut Colonel G. Brien, and Capt. Emil Schaeffer, of the Second Regiment, took a ride today to the rarge where the artillery was at practice and witnessed the operations from a short distance.

According to orders issued by the acting adjutant general. Capt. A. P. Robbins, Rex Maupin and R. M. Olbert, both of Company B. High School Cadets, will be returned to Washington on a surgeon's certificate of disability.

Chicago CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 22.-Hart was certainly in evidence this afternoon when he faced the Senators. Only once in the game did he "let up," and that was the only chance the visitors had of stepping upon the home plate. That happened in the fifth inning. The first two men struck out, then Hart tempted Gear with an easy one and the batter landed it for two bases The next three men each got a single and three runs crossed the plate, all of them earned. Then Hart got down to Fusiness again, and struck out the next batter on three balls, Hart and Yeager retiring the side all alone. In every other inning of the game Hart had the Washingtons at his mercy and kept the hitting down as Lee, who did such good work for Kansas City last season, started in for Washington, but he only lasted three innings, for the home team jumped on him with both feet and secured seven hits off him, including two doubles and a three-bagger. He also hit one man with a pitched ball and gave another a free pass to first base, netting five runs. After that Gear was put in the box and for four innings pitched great ball, only one single being secured off his delivery, but in the eighth inning Cleveland struck another batting streak and hammered out three singles adding one more tally to the score. Hart was given gilt-edged support throughout the game, not the semblance of an error being made by the Cleveland players, and one or two of the stons and throws were of the phenomenal order.

Pickering, the first man at bat, lined a beauty into centre for a base. He was advanced to second on McCarthy being hit with a pitched ball. O Brien sent the ball into right field for a base, scoring Pickering, McCarthy going to second. Beck hit to shortstop, forcing O'Brien at second. After La Chance had been retired on a fly to left field McCarthy crossed the plate, and Beck came home a moment plate, and Beck came home a moment later on Bradley's beautiful two-bagger to the left field fence.

In the second inning Shiebeck led off with a two-bagger along the left field foul line. Hart advanced him to third on a neat sacrifice to first base. Pickering flew out to centre and McCarthy drove a street by second second.

flew out to centre and McCarthy drove a single into right, scoring Beck.

Beck started the third inning with a cracking three-bagger to the centre field fence. Le Chance flew out to Clingman and Bradley came to the rescue again with a single, scoring Beck. Yeager was given a base on balls but a neat double play ended the run-getting in that inning. The home team scored another run in the eighth inning. After La Chance had been retired on his long fly to right Bradley lined one over the second baseman's head for a base. He stole second and came home on a throw by Clarke to catch him at the bag, the throw landing the ball into centre field.

Washington scored their only runs of the game in the fifth linning. After Hart had struck out the first two batters Gear hit the sphere for two bases into right field. Waldron followed with a single, scoring Gear. Farrell lined out another single sending Waldron to third, and field. Waldron followed with a single, scoring Gear. Farrell lined out another single, sending Waldron to third, and then Farrell stole second. Dungan sent both runners home with a nice hit to centre, but he was left on base, as Charke, the next batter up, was struck out. After that the visitors had no show of scoring and only once got a man as far as third base. The score:

Are Useful

THE bacteriologists are learning to take new views of the minute creatures which they study. When the startling world of micro-organisms was discovered there was nothing but hard words for it. The first bacteria found were those of disease, and the bacteriologists were so horrified by their misdeeds that they condemned the whole tribe of micro-organisms to death without enquiring further into the matter. Fasteur so feared bacteria that he kept a bowl of scalding water by his place at meals, dipping his dishes, knitves, and forks into it before using them, by way of preventing the smallest Germ from passing his lips—and did, in fact, prevent it so effectually that he ruined his digestion. For in scalding the evil-disposed bacteria to death he scalded many more that were necessary in carrying on the work of his stomach, and so deprived himself of their aid.

The bacteriologists now know that there are many well-meaning Germs among their charges. The microbe tribes are made up like those of the larger creatures. There is one tribe, for example, that may be turned into scavengers. They are very greedy for refuse on a kinds, and it is suggested by the sanguine that in time they may be raised in large tanks.
